Victoria Station

Town's reaction mixed

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Some like it, some don't. Some aspects of it appeal to many people, other aspects to just about no one.

Reaction to last week's announcement of the proposed Victoria Station development was decidedly mixed, but an informal survey by The Citizen found more people leaning toward the project than against it.

The $25-million commercial development has been proposed for a 32-acre site located (for the most part) between the western end of Cross Street and the Androscoggin River.

Developers Heinie Merrill, Grant Wilson and Les Otten (owner of Sunday River Ski Resort) hope to tap the expanding skier market and to capitalize on the expected return of passenger rail service to Bethel.

Merrill argues that the project would prove an economic and aesthetic benefit to the town--and many townspeople appear to agree.

"The comments I've heard have been basically positive," said Town Clerk Merton Brown, "but with the qualification that the town be paid enough that it can relocate its buildings without cost to taxpayers." (The developers say that for the project to be feasible, the town must agree to sell them a 6.2 acre parcel that is the current site of the Highway Department garage and ambulance barn.)

"I definitely would like to see it come. It will upgrade the community and help with jobs."

LINDA OLSON
On passenger rail service

Kirk Siegel of Gould Academy thought the economic impact would clearly be positive. "Taken at face value, the proposal represents a great opportunity for the interests of both business people and residents," he said. "I'm in favor of anything that makes the town livable, and at the same time offers opportunities for people to make a decent living."

"The rail link is the key component. If increasing numbers of people are going to ski, shop, and stay in this area, what better way to get them here than by mass transit, rather than clogging Route 26 or building a four-lane highway."

Rootin' for the railroad

The opportunity for passenger rail service appealed to just about everyone.

"It would connect the town to the outside world," said George Bethel. "Right now all we've got is that little airport."

"Wendy Belling said she, for one, can't wait for trains to start rolling. 'I want it to hurry up and get here. My family in Buffalo, N.Y. is 12 hours away (by car). It would be great to travel on the train.'"

Linda Olson agreed. "I definitely would like to see it come. It will upgrade the community and help with jobs."

And in a letter to the editor in this week's Citizen Jane Rolfe-Lowe said: "It would be wonderful to be able to take the train to see a show in Boston or New York, and depending on how often the train would run, I can envision (if it was a daily route) people seeking employment via train route elsewhere and continuing to live in Bethel, allowing for better employment and income opportunities for the people already in this area."

Localized development

Others welcomed the chance to encourage development in an appropriate part of town, rather than to have it spread out along the roadways.

"If we're going to have development in Bethel, that's the best place for it," said Stan Howe, director of the Bethel Historical Society.

Howe also noted that following the introduction of passenger rail service in the 1850s, Bethel experienced "a tremendous development boom, especially hotels and boarding houses, and projects such as Kimball Park."

Is it really the best spot?

But others were less enthused about the location, worrying about its impact on traffic and on established businesses.

Brad and Judy Barker, whose home is located across from the proposed new intersection of routes 2/26 and Cross Street, worried that skiers would ignore traffic rules at the new intersection, just as they traditionally have at the Sunday River Road intersection.

"Sunday River's making it their town," Brad said. "Are the townspeople really going to benefit? All we're going to get is more flatlanders. The traffic is bad enough here."

"It will make driving more hazardous," Judy said. "The intersection will be dangerous with people coming over the bridge. As it is now at the end of the Sunday River Road people don't yield at all."

Esther Wilson, who runs Red Top Truck Stop, was also uneasy about the road relocation, which would strand some businesses, including the Red Top, out of the main skier flow.

"If the traffic stays going right by us then we'll probably do alright. If the traffic is rerouted then we'll lose a lot of business. Route 26 is most of my business."

But Crockett acknowledged that overflow business might in fact benefit the Red top, though such things are hard to predict.

Up Main Street, Melody Bonnema of Bonnema Pottery said her business was specialized enough that she didn't expect to be hurt by the project.

She also questioned Merrill's contention (reported in last week's Citizen) that retail businesses on Main Street was "not really that successful now."

"That really rings my chimes," she said. "Retail on Main Street is made up of people who are able to live in the community and play a roll in it. What are his criteria for 'success'?"

And trapper Neil Olson of East Bethel objected to Merrill's calling the area between Railroad Street and the Androscoggin River "deteriorated."

"There are three things on the way into Bethel that the average person probably doesn't know about," Olson said. "There's a beaver colony, a fox den with three pups and an otter crossover. All are right in the area they're talking about."

"Personally," Olson said, "I would rather look at an electric chair than more pavement."

"All we're going to get is more flatlanders. The traffic is bad enough already."

BRAD BARKER

Chamber: no comment

The Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce has not yet taken a position on the proposal. Chamber executive director Robin Zinchuk refused to comment until after a meeting of the organization's executive board.

And back at the Red Top, Wilson said it was still a little early to get worried about the proposal. "I'm not going to get too shook up if they're not going to start until 1995," she said. "There's too much uncertainty as to whether it's really going to happen or not. I don't get too excited until the groundbreaking. People seem to have a wait and see attitude. They're not sure it can be pulled off."

It's all in the details

For others, however, it was less a matter of "if" than of "how."

"It's impossible to judge the project without knowing more about the details," said Margaret Joy Tibbets. "Execution will be everything."

"My only hope is that the architecture shows some relationship to what belongs in a New England village," she said. "It should be consistent not only with our buildings but also with the landscape. There are already too many buildings in

School budget vote tonight

By WENDY HANSCOM

The SAD44 annual district budget meeting will be held tonight, Wednesday, at 7 p.m. in the Telstar High School auditorium. It appears unlikely there will be any major opposition to this year's budget.

The $6,090,076 budget for the coming year reflects an overall increase of 2.07 percent from last year's total of $5,966,070.

If the FY '94 budget passes as presented, the five member towns will pitch in $3,416,691. Last year's assessment was $3,201,351.

The increase will not be spread evenly across the district towns, but will range from a low of .04 percent increase in Bethel to a high of 14.98 percent in Newry.

Repeat of last year doubtful

Last year a group of unhappy SAD44 voters narrowly missed overturning the school budget.

The FY '93 budget passed by a vote of 111 to 91 after over three hours of often heated debate.

Most of the voters' anger focused on roughly $86,000 in administrators' and teachers' salary hikes, which (except for annual step increases) are not included in this year's budget.

The Board of Directors is currently in contract negotiations with administrators and most other non-teaching personnel. However, the FY '94 budget reflects no increases in salaries or benefits for these district employees, according to Business Manager Bruce Powell. Teachers' contracts are due to be renegotiated next year.

Low attendance at public hearing

Only a handful of voters, nearly all of them SAD44 employees, turned out for last week's public hearing on the new budget, and few questions were asked during the half-hour meeting.

Following the conclusion of tonight's district budget meeting, the SAD44 Board of Directors will hold a regular board meeting in the Telstar library.

Newry FD saves camp

By WENDY HANSCOM

Newry firefighters were able to save most of a burning Bear River Road camp Monday night. Newry Fire Chief Virgil "Tink" Konkright estimated that 20 percent of the camp was severely damaged.

The fire was at the camp Thomas Cambio of Rhode Island. A passerby reported the blaze at 5:45 p.m.

When fire trucks arrived 15-foot high flames were shooting above part of the camp's roof, according to Konkright.

The blaze destroyed the camp's porch and burned into rooms connected to the porch. Konkright estimated the damage at $12,000 to $15,000.

Firefighters had the blaze under control in 20 minutes. Firemen then went inside the camp and pulled down ceilings in the burned areas to make sure the fire was fully extinguished, the chief said.

A state fire marshal was called to the scene Tuesday and determined the fire started in the camp's electrical wiring.

Cambio had been at the camp over the weekend, Konkright said, but no one was inside the camp when the fire broke out.

Fourteen firemen and three trucks from Newry responded to the scene.

The Bethel Fire Department also turned out with two trucks and five men. Central Maine Power was called to turn off the electricity. Fire trucks on the scene held enough water to extinguish the blaze, Konkright said. No one was injured fighting the fire.

A flurry of small fires

Newry firefighters also responded to small brush fire Friday on International Paper Company land in the Bear River valley. Konkright said the woods fire burned about 250 square feet.

Bethel firemen also fought three minor fires last week.

Fire Chief James Young said a sauna house a Don Coverdale's Vernon Street home was gutted by fire last week. The fire was caused by an overheated woodstove, he said.

A pop-up tent-trailer on King's Highway also burned down last week, Young said. The cause of the fire is unknown, he said.

Sunday, Bethel firefighters put out a small brush fire on the Fowl Mountain Road off the Middle Intervale Road. A 50-by-50 foot area burned, Young said, and no cause for the blaze was determined.

BETHEL TO VOTE ON TWO STATE GRANTS

Bethel will hold a special Town Meeting Thursday, July 29, to vote on accepting two state grants.

The grants are 50-50 state matches for the cost of closing the town landfill and sealing cracks at the Col. Dyke Airfield. The landfill grant is for $15,000, the runway grant approximately $7,500.

The town's contribution for the landfill work was approved by voters at the regular Town Meeting last month. The runway costs will come from a reserve fund designated for airport and industrial park work.

Thursday's meeting will be held at 7 p.m. in the Telstar lecture hall.

Bethel selectmen OK sewer budget; committee slots

By MICHAEL DANIELS

The Bethel Board of Selectmen, acting in their role of sewer commissioners, last week approved a 16.88 percent increase in the town's sewer budget for the coming year.

The new budget is not expected to lead to a fee increase, according to Town Manager Madeleine Henley; the bulk of the budget hike will be offset by fees from new users on the system.

The new budget is $251,055, up from $213,930 for the current year. The bulk of the $37,125 increase is earmarked for capital improvement to the treatment facility, including $16,000 for a new reed bed.

Plant operator Rob Gunderson said the improvements are needed extend the life expectancy of the 21-year-old plant.

The plant's capacity is 300,000 gallons, but the current average daily flow is only 70,000 gallons, Gunderson said, which leaves considerable capacity for further development on the system.

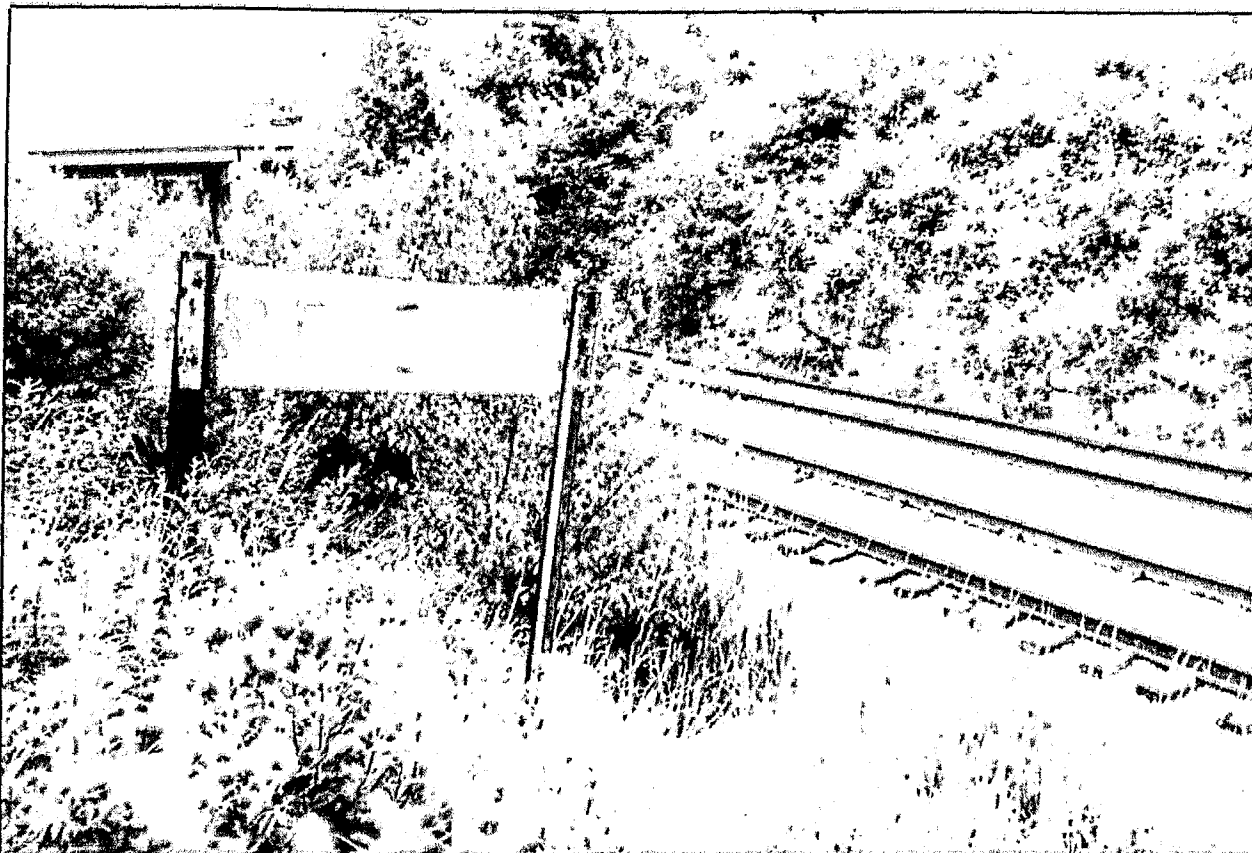

Committee appointments

The selectmen also made a number of committee appointments last week. The appointees and the length of their terms are as follows (* indicates a reappointment). Airport Industrial Park Committee: Cathy Newell* (both two years), Budget Committee: Dick Douglass*, Pat Dooden*, Arnie Brown* and Dwight Merrill (all for three years)

BACK TO THE FUTURE? The banks along the St. Lawrence and Atlantic Railroad in Bethel are overgrown, and the sign that once told passengers they had arrived in Bethel is fading away, but developers of the proposed Victoria Station project hope that within a few years the site will be bustling with incoming visitors. The former Bethel Station was torn down, along with others on the line, in 1968.

KEEP THE CORRIDOR OPEN

To the Editor:

If the return of passenger rail travel to Bethel indeed happens, and the expansion of the village district happens in a manner that enhances rather than degrades Bethel's small town character (an increasingly rare commodity in this country these days)—the Cross Street proposal seems like a decent one to me. I look forward to seeing more detailed plans, and hope that the riverfront adjacent to the project—which I have seen used by not only snowmobilers and skiers but also geese, fox, bald eagles, moose, and deer—will continue to be a place for both human and wildlife species.

GO VICTORIA STATION

To the Editor:

I believe the proposed Victoria Station for passenger rail service to Bethel is a wonderful opportunity, for the town of Bethel.

I believe the town should take full advantage of this opportunity and work with the developers as much as possible to make this a developmental opportunity for the future growth of the town and the surrounding areas. I do hope agreements can be reached by all parties to make this happen. We have to understand as a town this area is going to grow and we can either go and grow with it or sit back and watch it happen while everybody else grows around us.

The train station not only will open Bethel and the surrounding area once again to people south of us, but it also opens up the areas south of us, to us.

It would be wonderful to be able to take the train to see a show in Boston or New York, and depending on how often the train would run; I can envision (if it was a daily route) people seeking employment via train route elsewhere and continuing to live in Bethel, allowing for better employment and income opportunities for the people already in this area.

We have a tuition school where students come from all over the country to attend. How nice it would be for they and their parents to be able to just take the train here and there for visits.

Years ago as a child I remember the railway station in town and it was really a "neat" thing for a kid to see. It amazes me, how through the years "We Have, We Tear Down and then years down the road We Rebuild" what we had years ago.

It's funny, but life does go in cycles and it just goes to show that the people working on this idea today, see what our forefathers did yesterday and want to do it again. History repeats itself. This is an opportunity that shouldn't be missed bringing in, employment, tourism, industry, educational advantages, increased property values and on and on it could go.

I say: Let's not sit back and watch it happen, let's get up and help make it happen.

NO TO VICTORIA STATION

To the Editor:

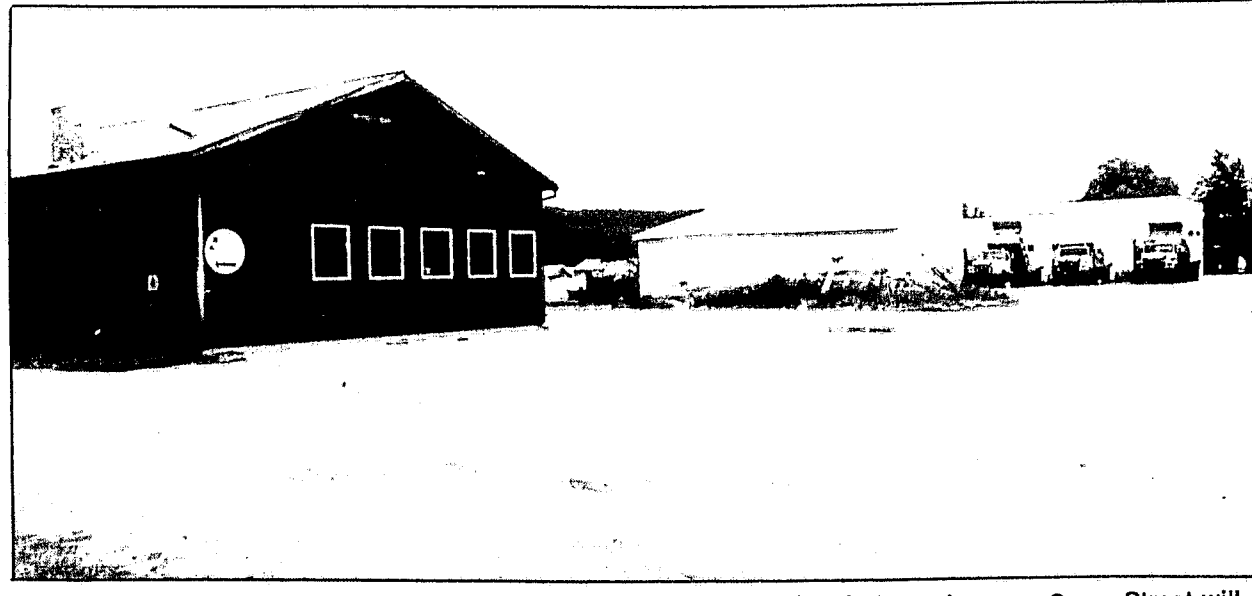

In regards to the proposal to build Victoria Station, the idea of financial gain can look wonderful, but the town of Bethel has survived without it. I, personally, am proud to say that Bethel has kept itself free of franchises, and I will work hard to see that this town does not get ruined by greed.

People come to Bethel to relax and get away from shopping strips and traffic. They enjoy coming to specialty shops in town and walking on Main Street with the locals getting to experience what a small town is all about.

The more that is built to move people out of the Bethel village the more we all suffer. Small shops not able to stay in business, families not able to afford to live here anymore, and greater wear and tear on the roads.

If shopping on a road strip is a vacation for people then let them visit North Conway or Freeport, but if people want to come and see the beautiful mountains and ski a great ski area or just walk in town, come to Bethel.

"PAT" MURPHY

To the Editor:

As I grow older, the more I look forward to the future when I can retire and settle down to becoming in my later years the ultimate designation for a Mainer, "a town character." This can be a derogatory term, but from my perspective, it is one to be nurtured. Most people I know have a soft spot for what they consider a town character. How my childhood was enriched by all the Bethel town characters I either knew first-hand or through reputation. Somehow those referred to today as "town characters" can't hold a candle to those I so vividly remember in the 1950s. There are exceptions.

One of those exceptions died last month and I couldn't let it pass without some comment about him. R. Glenn "Pat" Murphy, who I did not know well until the 1970s, became one of my favorite town characters. Wherever I saw him, he had some kind of story to tell or some riddle with which to stump me. Just two days before he died, he said to me in the IGA, "How many seconds in a year?" I said it would take me a minute or two to figure that one out. "Shouldn't," he responded, "only 12, January second, February second, March second, and so forth..." that was vintage Pat.

His usual greeting was "What do ya know?" I never knew what he expected for an answer, but usually tried to give him a smart response to which he had an even smarter reply.

Pat would say just about anything to anyone he saw, particularly those he could have some fun with, usually at their expense. I well remember the time he saw Barbara D. Brown on Main Street and greeted her as Barbara Democrat Brown, just to rib her about her staunch Republicanism.

In the 1970s, Pat was a menace to anyone he knew as he drove up and down Main Street with his pickup and built-in microphone. No one could predict what he might say over the microphone for all to hear. He caught me a few times and others more often. How much I enjoyed observing the many startled but often amused looks as Pat had his fun with some overly dignified person.

Yes, Pat was a town character, but what a difference his life made to all of us who knew and appreciated his humor. And what an inspiration he is for all of us who aspire to the title "town character." Wherever he is now, I'll bet someone is laughing.

SLUG STEALS IMPATIENS

To the Editor:

Some friends have complained about slugs destroying their plants and flowers. We thought we had escaped.

On Sunday evening a human slug stole the New Guinea impatiens hanging plant from our sign post.

We had been watering, feeding and admiring this gift since May.

If the thief wishes to return the plant as quietly as it was stolen, we would ask no questions.

ROAD RACE THANKS

To the Editor:

To all that ran the Mollycoddett Day Road Race, thanks for making it one of the best fields in the past years, it is great seeing so many families that come back every year and make this run part of their vacation, and that goes for the kids, to the middle or the pack runners, to real real hot-shots that come every year to beat last year's times, and to the seniors that just back to just finish. The Walker division keeps getting bigger every year and the times get better as well.

A race like this couldn't be run if it weren't for the people that help us out with financial support. We have to recognize these people and companies: Sunday River Ski Resort, Central Maine Power, Key Bank, Bonnama Pottery, Pepsi, and Groan and McGurn, thank you and hopefully we can call on you next year.

All the awards (and we had a lot of prizes) that went out to the winners of the age groups and for our raffle came from local retailers: Sunday River Ski Resort, Sudbury Inn, Dr. Joe DeMarco, Joe Cordello, Mother's, Perhams. The list of prizes were great and put a lot of smiles on the faces of the people that received them.

Thanks to the Bethel police, Lenzie Shaw and John Mason for making it one of the safest races in the area. To the Bethel Inn for letting us use their equipment, and their lawn for the staging area. A very big thanks to all the great volunteers that give their time to help me put this race on, I couldn't do it without you all.

reconstruction on Church and Park Streets so that the granite curb can be installed Aug. 2. Pavement is scheduled to begin on those two roads Aug. 9.

The sewer line is going as planned on Mill Hill Road. When done with that the line crew will install the storm drain lines on Mill Hill then Broad Street, and then all service stubs on both roads.

The town road improvement program is well under way. The long-standing problem at the beginning of Grover Hill Road has been corrected by pulling rocks out of the road, ditching, replacing several culverts and installing two new, and placing a two-inch hot-top overlay.

On Vernon Street, last week's shimming and overlay will be followed in the first week of August by chip seal. During that process, small stone chip is laid on the road in hot tar, and then rolled in. There will be some excess stone which will eventually be pressed in or pushed off by traffic.

Liquid calcium was laid on most of the gravel roads last week. This will serve to hold the roads in better shape through the summer, as well as keep the dust to a minimum.

The ditching program continues, and sealant will be applied so several sections of paved road as a short term protective measure. Your patience and cooperation during the disruption caused by these improvements is sincerely appreciated.

Newry

Planners table Powder Ridge extension

By DUANE HAYES

The Newry planning board voted unanimously last week to table a request by Glover Development Corp. for an extension to its approved site plan, which is set to expire later this year.

At an earlier the board meeting, there were three issues of concern which board members felt should be addressed before consideration of an extension: dry hydrants in two fire protection ponds; the cutting down of a hill that provides poor visibility at the intersection of Douglas Road and Keystone Drive; and certification of a line of credit to show financial capability.

According to planning board chairman Don Sandstrom, an on-site visit prior to last week's meeting showed that the dry hydrants have now been installed.

Newry Fire Chief Virgil Conkright said that with some minor modifications he feels the hydrants will be acceptable.

Concerning the poor visibility on the access road, however, the parties still could not reach a firm agreement as to how the problem can be resolved.

Tom Block, representing Glover

Development, explained that the corporation feels it built the road according to the town's standards that were in place at the time the original application was approved.

"Since learning of your concerns we have tried to plan to maximize the visibility there up to 250 feet by considering a redesign of Douglas Road," Block said.

He also explained that his group doesn't feel it is practical to cut the hill, as it would mean blasting ledge that underlies the existing roadway.

"When Keystone Drive is built, a redesign and reconstruction of Douglas Road will, in effect, cut the hill by six or eight feet," Block added.

Planning board member Joe Aloisio, who is the chief engineer for Sunday River Resort, said he found it hard to believe there is no practical way to solve the problem.

"You should be able to use gravel to build the road so it will have more visibility," Aloisio said.

Also representing Glover Development was the corporation's attorney, Peter Wiley of Portland. Wiley stated that as the project is close to deadline "we are not sure what our options are, but we might not need an extension."

"Because my clients have been going forward with the project I feel they have certain vested rights stemming from the original application. They are not here to waive those rights, but there is a big difference from someone who has had an approved application for three years and hasn't turned a shovel full of dirt," Wiley said.

He also stated that he believes Glover Development could stand on the regulations that were in place concerning the road at the time it was built, but that is not what they wish to do.

"(The corporation is) willing to negotiate and triple the visibility at the intersection," Wiley said.

According to Sandstrom, it is true that there have been some changes since the original application was approved "but the issue here concerns an extension not the original plan."

It was then moved by Aloisio and seconded by Brooks Morton to table the issue until the board has an opportunity to talk with the Maine Municipal Association to see if the town has jurisdiction over the terms of an extension.

Tibbetts sided with nearly everyone who volunteered an opinion of the proposed name, Victoria Station. "I don't like it," she said. "It's foolish."

Persis Post agreed and suggested "Sudbury Station" as a suitable alternative.

Saturday, July 17, the Lewis Dana Hill Memorial Library committee put on a nice "Fun Day" with games and refreshments of hot dogs, brownies, lemonade, etc., for the children, parents and friends of the area. There was even a visit from a clown who told stories and painted faces. Everybody had a good time.

Sunday a bridal shower was given for Jeanette Wentworth at the church vestry. She got a lot of nice gifts. Jeanette and Robert Rugg will be getting married next month.

Walter and Carolyn Heino attended the graveside services for Jane Cadigan at the #4 Cemetery in Lovell recently.

One morning this week it looked rainy so I opened the front door to take the flag in and saw a nice young moose just across the road looking at the woodpile there and he decided not to go over it and went back down to the brook. Twenty minutes later, our daughter at the cottage at Lake Keewaydin called and said you can't guess what we just saw and I said yes I can, which surprised her. The same moose was up there in the lake eating lily pads and came up onto their beach. The children were really excited to see it, especially that close. That's something you don't see in the city.

A leak in the Mill Pond Dam in Stoneham has been discovered and will have to be repaired soon. The pond is the driest that I have seen it. We had a little rain which was good to the crops and gardens but we need much more rain.

Don't forget the D.U.V. meeting and picnic at Helen Grover's July 28.

Greenwood City

By COLISTA MORGAN

The indigo bunting visited me this week and brought me memories of my childhood. I seldom see them around here, but they frequented our yard when I was a child. The brilliant garbed little creature came often to our trees.

I especially recall a morning woodland excursion, when I went with my brother to put the cows into the pasture. Because it was hot we took a path to the woods. We discovered a pair of buntings. The males seemed to love the hot weather and were conspicuous songsters. He seemed delighted in singing. He would sing his way to the top of a tree from one branch to another until he reached the topmost spire and there fully exposed to the blazing sun; he would sing and sing and sing. Seldom did we see the female unless we came near to her nest. Her nervous chirping then warned us of her whereabouts.

For many years I have been writing this column to The Citizen. I have followed trails through the seasons with much enjoyment. At first I did not know what a bargain I had in the bobolinks, thrushes and other birds and the little animals; also the beauty of sunsets and sunrises, rainbows and such.

At first I set them down to please myself, to preserve from the sliding flow of time, such things as I would find pleasure in recalling, to catch something of joy of the out-of-door days, as I wish I could know them always. Perhaps my aim has always been to achieve for myself and perhaps to pass on delight and joy.

As a painter once told me, "My work gives me one brief moment, caught from fleeting time, a lasting existence." I think writing has been much the same. If you feel when you finish, that you lived through sunshine and rain, snow storms and gales, autumn leaves and spring flowers, sunrises and sunsets and lived through thoughts evoked; you have attained the end.

I will always remember my many walks over the years, the songs of the birds, fading sunsets and the emerging stars. I review all with mixed emotions as they recede into the past. But perhaps by another dawn they will begin again.

These few lines are in memory of my husband, Clyde, who passed away on July 30, 1986.

The summer days are here, dear heart,

Blue is the sky o'erhead.
Along the driveway just as of old,
Grow the roses red;
High in our maple, an oriole
Still sings the self same lay,
But sadness hovers all around
For you have gone away.

I don't seem to have many new items, but everyone is very busy with summer work and summer play. There have been several festivals that we have attended in West Paris, Bethel or Norway. The heat has been the main topic and it's good to have some relief.

Ray Moran retires at Bethel Inn

Ray Moran, general manager of the Bethel Inn and Country Club will retire at the end of July after 12 years of service to the inn. Moran, 62, will move to Bonita Springs, Fla. with his wife, Anne, and son, Kyle.

Dick Rasor, the inn's owner, said, "Ray's accomplishments here are clearly visible. Under his tenure, the resort's business has increased six-fold to $3 million and there has been a doubling in size of the entire property, in land, guest rooms, golf course and other recreational facilities. Ray has presided over the re-emergence of the resort as one of New England's premiere properties, now ranked among the top ten in the entire Northeast."

In 1989, when Rasor bought the resort it had been closed and about to be auctioned piecemeal by then Canal Bank. According to Rasor, "It was Ray Moran who was largely responsible for the inn's rebirth, instituting sound management practices and financial planning. His experience in the banking world as former president of Bethel Savings Bank, was critical during the difficult financial relationships we faced, even with a strong and expanding business."

Anne Moran has managed the resort's benefit programs and payroll as part of the accounting department.

Kyle will begin his high school freshman year in Florida and will bring his credentials as the current Maine state junior champion to the golf team.

As happy as I am for the Morans' new life, they have been a part of the resort's--and my own--family for over a decade," Rasor said.

According to Moran, "I have been in Bethel now for 22 years and will always consider in my home. Anne, Kyle and I will miss our many friends in the area and will plan to visit when we can. I can't promise we will be back in the winter, but look for us on the golf course when the weather gets warm."

Jennifer Head, Ray's daughter, will continue to reside in Bethel and work in group sales at the resort.

New management team

With Moran's departure, William W. White III, 32, and Allen M. Connors, 29, share the general management responsibilities, both reporting to Rasor on specifically defined aspects of the business.

"Bill and Allen have been important to our operation for several years, and their succession has been carefully planned for the past two year," Rasor said. "They have already demonstrated their ability to continue the solid growth pattern and strong management of the resort."

Bill White has been with the resort as rooms division manager for five years. Previously, he was in charge of the front desk at the Spruce Point Inn in Boothbay Harbor and was director of sales at New Hampshire Suites in Washington, D.C.

Bill grew up in nearby Bridgton and graduated from Gould Academy.

He attended Hobart College and holds a bachelor of science degree in hotel administration from the Whittemore School of Business at the University of New Hampshire. He lives on Sparrowhawk Mountain in West Bethel.

Allen Connors joined the resort staff two years ago as director of golf for the resort's expanded golf operation and Guaranteed Performance School of Golf, which has attracted hundreds of students from all over the country.

His prior experience includes being general manager of the White Mountain Country Club in Ashland, N.H., where he was responsible for all aspects of lodging and of golf operations. He is a native of Bethel and the son of Gail Schatzle of Broad Street. Allen worked on the greens crew at the resort when he attended Telstar.

Allen graduated from the University of Southern Maine with a bachelor of arts degree in business administration and a major in accounting. He is married to the former Linda James of Bethel and they have a home on Broad Street.

"We have worked hard to clearly define the specific responsibilities of both of our new general managers," Rasor said.

White will focus on resort operations including rooms, food and beverage, maintenance and financial systems.

Connors will direct all marketing efforts and recreational activities including the golf and cross-country ski schools and operations.

"I am very proud of Bill and Allen and have every confidence in their ability to continue our growth. But I am also proud that these two young men, who have had such strong ties to the area, have elected to bring their education, experience and talents back home. It is a fine testimony to the area's educational and career opportunities as well as its lifestyle," Rasor said.

To continue my experience of the week I spent in Rhode Island, I want to mention that Brent Bachelder of the "Club Neopolsi Creations" and Terry O'Dowd gave my niece Theresa and I a tour of the places that Brent is involved in like "The Children's Museum of R.I." he is the exhibit technician there. Then the "Joslin Community Development Corporations" a Multi-Service Center where Brent is the activity coordinator. The Roger Williams Park, where he did all the murals for the exhibits. And last but not least also the murals for the Audubon Society at Caratunk Wild Life Refuge at Seekonk, Mass. Also he took us to his studio in Providence where he works at "dioramas," and manufactures all kinds of figurines, etc. It was very exciting and I realized that Brent is very busy with his artistic vocation. Thank you, Brent and Terry for a grand tour.

Members of the "Newry Bowling Gang" who went to the Oxford Lanes in Rumford were: Karlene Bachelder, Betsy Clark, Gil Seeley, Louise Tetley, Doris Parent, Sylvia Wight, Bea Lowell and Olive Anderson. Jim Anderson was a guest. Of the "lefties" Karlene was high on the triples but tied with Betsy on the singles on the first string, and also on the second, but Gil beat them on that one. And Karlene beat Gil by one on the third string...HUE! Of the "righties" Doris was high on the triples and singles. Karlene had four spares, Betsy one strike and two spares, Gil one spare, Sylvia one strike and two spares, Bea one spare, Louise two spares, Doris two spares and Olive one strike and one spare.

The Newry Community Church Ladies Circle will meet at Freda Robertson's residence Aug. 2 at 12:30 p.m. Bring a sandwich or else, and the dessert and coffee will be furnished by the hostess.

Sue Wight is home recuperating after an operation on her ankle. We send sunny thoughts of "God Bless You," meant to bring a bit of cheer, and remind you in your illness, sunny thoughts are always near. "Trust in the Lord with all thy heart."

"Et-cet-er-a" to Chad McGrew, Bethel, I wish I had said that.

Happy eighth birthday, Kurt Wight!

News from the The Bethel Library

The Bethel Library's Mollycoddett Day fundraisers were very successful. Sandy Tasso of Gorham, N.H. and Locke Mills was the lucky winner of the quilt raffle. Thanks to the Cross Country Quilters, Eli Mann, Justin Gilbert, Frances Gunther, Ruth Cummings, Lucie Schwarz and the Bethel Library trustees for their assistance with the quilt-raft and the book sale.

The Summer Reading Program is in full swing. Come in and check out the fabulous mural created by Telstar student Cailin Kavanagh. As readers finish their 20 books, they attach their name to the character on the mural that they would most like to be. So far, the names on the mural are Ryan Trefethen, Meggie Trefethen, Karl Olson, Shawn Crockett, Ray Crockett, Santana Cordova and Bill Marshall. It isn't too late to begin. The 20 books must be completed before the field trip to the new Children's Museum of Maine on Aug. 23. If you have lost your Summer Reading form, just keep track of your books on a piece of paper.

Twelve new video tapes have been added to the Library's permanent collection: West Side Story, The King and I, The Sound of Music, Return to Snowy River, The New Adventures of Pippi Longstocking, Wee Sing in the Marvelous Musical Mansion, Lamb Chop in the Land of no Manners, Barney, George's Island, White Fang, The Music Man, and The Wild Pony. Videos may be checked out for two days. There is an overdue charge of 25 cents per day for late return.

BALSA BRIDGES—Gould math teacher Carol Bonner's (center) summer school students Buffy Fuller and T.J. Stebbins work on balsa wood bridges last week, prior to a contest to test the weight-bearing capacity of their creations. The bridges are built to the specifications of the Junior Engineers Technical Society, and the national record weight for a student-built bridge is close to 200 pounds. Among other restrictions, the structure may weigh no more than 16 grams. The six-week summer program at Gould runs through the first week in August.

Jackson-Silver Auxiliary

The meeting of the Jackson-Silver Unit, American Legion Auxiliary was held on July 15 at the home of Mary Lyon on North Pond. A potluck supper was enjoyed on the deck before the meeting.

The joint committee from the Bethel and Locke Mills Posts and Units have been busy arranging for the annual Fall Conference to be held at the Sunday River Ski Resort on the weekend of Sept. 24 to 26.

On Friday, Sept. 14, there will be a meeting of the Forty and Eight and La Femmes. The American Legion and Auxiliary will hold their usual conferences on Friday, Sept. 25, from 8:30-4 and the Junior Auxiliary and Sons of the Legion will also meet on that day. There will be a banquet and dance that evening. The conference ends on Sunday morning with Executive Committee meetings of the Legion and Auxiliary.

Plans for a fund-raising weekend in August were discussed and workers lined up. The Auxiliary will sell hot dogs and popcorn and have a food table on Aug. 14 at the library in Bryant Pond when a book sale and fair will be held. The following day, in a joint project of the Bethel and Locke Mills posts and auxiliaries, there will be a chicken barbecue starting at 11 a.m., followed by a special bingo at 1 p.m. Cost of the barbecue is to be $4.50 per person, which includes a half chicken, potato salad, corn on the cob, dessert and beverage. This will be at the Locke Mills Legion Hall. Weather permitting, the meal will be served outdoors.

It is hoped that these fund-raising activities will offset some of the expenses and enable many members to attend the Fall Conference who might not otherwise do so.

Instead of recessing as they usually do for the summer, the Auxiliary will hold another meeting on Aug. 12 after a 5 p.m. potluck supper. Any member who is able to help with one of the above activities should contact Leah Deegan or Martha Stowell who are coordinating them.

PACE offers new programs

Four new community programs are being offered by PACE Paramedic Service, a department of Stephens Memorial Hospital. Vials of Life, HERO units and classes in CPR and first aid are available to the public by contacting PACE in Norway.

The Vial of Life Program is for the elderly, the handicapped or those who are chronically ill and living alone. The objective of this program is to have vital information easily available in the event that a person is found unconscious, or unable to communicate. A simple vial (a pill bottle) is stored in the occupant's refrigerator--which is fire resistant and part of every kitchen--and contains a piece of paper with the names of doctors, medical status, medications, next of kin, blood type, and insurance information.

Rescue workers will look for the Vial of Life decal on the outside of the refrigerator door and can give immediate attention to the stricken person with the aid of this written information. This free program is being offered throughout Maine by the Jasper N. Keller Chapter, Telephone Pioneers of America, with headquarters in Portland. Vials of Life are available from PACE Paramedic Service who will assist in explaining the program to interested persons or groups in local areas.

HERO (Home Emergency Response Operator) units are now available for installation by PACE. The unit is a communication device that can be used by anyone who may need help in case of an emergency. The HERO consists of a small portable button which sends a special signal through a unit connected to your telephone. Whenever you need help, you push the HERO's portable button and your signal reaches the 24-hour telephone monitoring service. There, specially trained attendants will contact one of the three people (nearby friend or relative) who have agreed to help you. In special cases, the contact person can be the local ambulance service. The system is installed at your convenience to your personal telephone by a representative from PACE.

Stephens Memorial Hospital and the answering service have fees attached to the installation of HERO units. Questions regarding these units or the fees may be answered by calling PACE at Stephens Memorial Hospital.

Another program being offered by PACE are CPR or First Aid Training to the public. CPR certification is through the American Heart Association and is renewed every two years. The Standard First Aid course from the American Red Cross teaches the standard first aid skills a person needs to act in an emergency. A PACE staff member will be teaching these classes. Please call for a current schedule and class fees.

"As part of our continued interest in pre-hospital medicine and our commitment to the community, we are pleased to offer these programs," said Dwight Corning, Director of PACE Paramedic Service.

For more information on any or all of these programs call PACE at 743-5933, Ext. 700.

FLOOD HELP SOUGHT

The Salvation Army, after assessing the needs in the flood disaster areas of the Midwest, is requesting the following items--in case lots, suitable for shipping.

They should be taken to nearest Salvation Army Corps. In the Greater Portland area items can be dropped off at the Army's facility located at 88 Preble Street: bottled water, coffee, beverage mixes, disposable diapers, cleaning supplies, non-perishable foods, paper products, baby food, first aid supplies.

Clothing and furniture are not needed at this time.

Monetary donations are especially needed (to be used to purchase items in bulk near disaster area). Checks should be made payable to The Salvation Army--"Midwest Flood Relief" and mailed to P.O. Box 3647, Portland, ME 04104.

Mundt-Allen Post #81

The annual picnic of Mundt-Allen Post #81, American Legion and Auxiliary members and guests will be held Sunday, Aug. 8 starting at noon.

Sonny and Arlene Bean of West Bethel have once again graciously extended an invitation for the group to gather around their pool for this annual event.

Members are requested to bring either a hot dish, salad or a dessert to share and their beverage of choice. The steak and chicken will be furnished.

Please call Mona at 824-2495 or Carolyn at 824-2707 and leave a message as to choice of meat and how many will be attending by Saturday, July 31.

COUNTY GOP MEETS

The Grover Hill home of Rep. Al Barth (R-Bethel) and his wife, Lee, was once again the site of the annual Oxford County Republican Committee picnic on July 13. The weather cooperated beautifully, the insects were strangely absent, and the food was bountiful and delicious. Approximately 50 Republicans from throughout the county were in attendance.

During the business meeting, Becky Kendall of Bethel was selected to represent the county on the 1994 Platform Committee. Michelle Frank of Otisfield discussed the bi-county picnic fundraiser (Oxford and Androscoggin) set for Aug. 22 at the residence of Ted and Eleanor Heidrich in Oxford. Tickets are available for $10 per person.

Vice chairman John Underwood of Oxford discussed the bake sale sponsored by the County Committee during the Paris Bicentennial festivities. Invitations were distributed to the Haley Barbour, Republican National Committee Chairman, events scheduled on July 30 with a grassroots family barbecue in Cumberland, a blueberry pancake breakfast also in Cumberland on July 31, and an old-fashioned summer lobster bake in Castine, also on July 31.

Anyone wishing to go was urged to call chairman Stan Howe at 824-2291. Nancy Hansen of Bethel reported that the Voter List Committee would be going to Augusta in the near future to work with the computers at state headquarters to produce a computerized list covering the entire county.

Comments on the recent legislative session were heard from Rep. Les Kutasi (R-Bridgton), Rep. Brenda Birney (R-Paris), and Rep. Al Barth (R-Bethel). County Commissioner Norman K. Ferguson spoke on the recent reappointment decision and how this should help Republicans to win additional seats in the Legislature representing Oxford County. Sheriff Lloyd "Skip" Herrick spoke on recent developments in his department. Thanks were expressed to Reps. Barth and Lee for hosting the event and to Louis Cayer of Rumford for serving as master chef at the grill.

The next meeting of the Committee will be in Fryeburg on Aug. 10. Special guest was Rep. Paul Young (R-Limestone), who spoke briefly about principles and programs.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hartzell

Mr. and Mrs. Alpheus Brooks of Albany are pleased to announce the recent marriage of their daughter, Carla-Jo Rugg to Samuel M. Hartzell.

Samuel is the son of Donna Hartzell of Mexico and Calvin Hartzell of Tennessee.

The two were married on June 5, 1993 at the North Waterford Congregational Church. A reception immediately followed at the home of Bruce and April Swett, sister of the bride. Christine Danico, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. The bride's niece, Tammi Edwards, was the bridesmaid, and Lalita Hodgdon, also a niece, was the pianist.

Tony Dymont, friend of the groom, served as the best man and Christof Rugg, brother of the bride, served as the usher.

The bride wore a gown of white satin with cathedral-length train. The bodice was made of beads and sequins. She carried a bouquet of pink roses on a white lace fan.

The three-tier cake was made by Esther Brooks, the bride's mother. Following their honeymoon cruise, the couple are residing in Albany.
